

POR SF
11.3.31.1.1

Patten, Alice

From: Quinn, Padraic (Pad)
To: Patten, Alice
Cc: Barthelmess, Suzanne; Metrokas, Nicholas (Nick)
Subject: RE: Nasty Bucket, T-1
Date: Friday, September 27, 1996 10:08AM

Thanks for the quick action.

If any of you notice this still there let us know.

From: Patten, Alice
To: Quinn, Padraic (Pad)
Subject: RE: Nasty Bucket, T-1
Date: Friday, September 27, 1996 9:42AM

Left voice mail message for him 9/26. He called back 9/27 around 9:30 and said he knew the bucket, thought it had already been removed, and will take care of it right away.

From: Quinn, Padraic (Pad)
To: Patten, Alice
Subject: FW: Nasty Bucket, T-1
Date: Thursday, September 26, 1996 7:36AM

Alice - Could you call Dean Walters with Western Transportation and ask him to remove this or have it removed by its owner. (The phone number I have was the wrong number) This "bucket" was first discovered during the audit we had performed a number of months ago. I would assume it belongs to May Trucking but aren't they leasing space from Western Trans?

I will stop by, probably tomorrow, to see if it's still there and to see what the ground around it looks like.

From: Barthelmess, Suzanne
To: Quinn, Padraic (Pad)
Cc: Metrokas, Nicholas (Nick)
Subject: Nasty Bucket, T-1
Date: Wednesday, September 25, 1996 4:00PM

FYI - I was at T-1 today for a FEMA inspection and ran across a very ugly bucket of oily "stuff" near the May Trucking area, dockside. It's next to one of the poles where excavation has been done by Cascade West for the T-1 Distribution System project and apparently has been there awhile. Cascade advises that it isn't theirs. Rainwater appears to have periodically filled and overflowed the bucket--the ground around the bucket looks to be contaminated.

Someone should take a look at it, me thinks. Wonder whose it is--May Trucking? or ours?

USEPA SF

1286117